Luther Reed-Caulkins Joins Pacifica Law Group’s Litigation Practice Group

SEATTLE, WA— Pacifica Law Group is pleased to announce that Luther Reed-Caulkins has joined the firm as an associate in our Litigation Practice Group. Experienced in advising and representing public, private, and nonprofit clients at all stages of litigation, Luther’s work has included high-stakes disputes involving real estate, contract performance, and employment law. He has also advised federal and state agencies on administrative law and enforcement matters.

Luther has also demonstrated a commitment to public service. His pro bono work includes representing clients in immigration proceedings and appealing a client’s prison sentence under New York’s Domestic Violence Survivor’s Justice Act.

“Luther’s solid litigation experience and his desire to have a positive impact through his work make him a great addition to our firm,” said Pacifica Litigation Practice Group Leader Jessica Skelton. “We look forward to working with Luther as he continues to develop his career.”

Prior to joining Pacifica, Luther served as a law clerk to the Honorable Edward R. Korman of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of New York. He also previously worked in the New York office of an international law firm, and served as a summer law clerk in the Washington State Attorney General’s Office.

Born and raised in Washington State, Luther earned his J.D. from Columbia Law School, where he earned several academic honors and served as senior executive editor of the Columbia Journal of International Law. Prior to pursuing his law degree, Luther earned his B.A. in Politics from Willamette University.
